1. Operational Profile

1.1 What are the main activities of your organisation?

We are committed to finding and formulating solutions related to maintaining and managing Indonesian's natural resources in more sustainable ways while also meeting socio-economic needs of smallholders, regional and indigenous communities. By using a jurisdictional approach, our works are to support more sustainable commodities production and supply chain in two provinces in Indonesia, namely Central Kalimantan and West Papua. Inobu works and helps the government to develop well-targeted policies, plans and regulations, financed by their own budgets, to support sustainable and inclusive development at the regional scale. We also support the recognition and protection of the rights of indigenous communities and support them to improve their current farming systems in a way that protects their environment while improving their welfare. Furthermore, Inobu empowers local farmers to demand for good governance, especially the improved delivery of the services to rural communities as well as the recognition and protection of their basic rights. Inobu also helps the farmers to have access to better technical information, inputs, training and finance to increase their agricultural productivity and farm profitability.

1.2 What activities has your organisation undertaken to publicise programmes to support the RSPO, RSPO certification, the uptake of RSPO-certified sustainable palm oil and oil palm products, or to support good standing RSPO members during the reporting period?

Inobu facilitates RSPO and ISPO certification in three villages in West Kotawaringin District and two villages in Seruyan District, Central Kalimantan, with 1,281 farmers and 2,789 hectares of land. The details are as follows: 511 farmers with an area of 1,444 ha in Pangkalan Tiga Village, 214 farmers with an area of 394 ha in Lada Mandala Jaya Village, 204 farmers with an area of 341 ha in Pangkalan Dewa Village, 177 farmers with an area of 331 hectares in Suka Maju Village, and 175 farmers with an area of 288 ha in Sukorejo Village.

Inobu is also developing a multi-stakeholder platform to facilitate the jurisdictional certification process in two districts in Central Kalimantan, such as West Kotawaringin and Seruyan. These two districts already have a jurisdiction certification working group that is legalized by a Regent Decree. Secretariats for the two working groups have also been prepared. They will function as the center for the working groups' activities, including discussions at the working group and sub-working group levels, both face-to-face and virtual.
