3.3.1 If the previous target year has not been met, please explain why.

By end 2020 our sustainable sourcing standards require all Palm Oil sourced by suppliers for use as McDonald's restaurant cooking oil and supplier par fry-oil to be RSPO physically certified. This represents the largest volume of palm oil in the McDonald's system. In 2021 96% of these volumes were RSPO physically certified. Where annual compliance was not met, McDonald's will ensure these volumes are covered by RSPO credits and will work with the relevant markets and suppliers to ensure continuous improvement and adherence to our sourcing standards.

McDonald's also sets an expectation that all Global Core product ingredients be RSPO physically certified, where commercially viable. This includes core menu products where palm oil is used directly as an ingredient in a McDonald's product. In 2021, 83% of palm oil ingredients used for Global core products were physically certified.

Across all volumes of palm oil sourced for McDonald's globally including restaurant cooking oil, par fry, global core ingredients and non-global core product ingredients the RSPO physically certified volumes have increased from 13% in 2016 to 78% in 2021.

In 2021, our physical certification for all palm oil volumes in the system are:

0.04% are Identity Preserved,

16.7% Segregated,

and 61.7% Mass Balance.

RSPO Book and Claim credits make up the remaining 22%.
