1. Operational Profile

1.1 What are the main activities of your organisation?

Yayasan Pusat Informasi Lingkungan Indonesia (commonly called PILI-Green Network) is a non-governmental organization (NGO) that was established in 2000. PILI Green Network's programs and competencies focus on gathering and exchanging information and strengthening the role of stakeholders in an inclusive manner in nature and environmental conservation efforts (www.pili.or.id).

PILI's institutional network focuses on partnerships in building and exchanging information on biodiversity protection, sustainable natural resource management, and climate resilience issues. Over the past 20 years, PILI Green Network has succeeded in building its expertise and network through various collaborations with partners, both from government and non-government institutions.

Along with the development of nature conservation strategies at the regional and global levels, PILI is expanding the scope of programs and activities by developing stronger partnerships with various stakeholders. Currently, the direction facilitated through the PILI movement targets changes in global consumption and production patterns, which are more sensitive to mitigating environmental and social risks—including reducing the negative impacts of climate change. PILI's partners include international and national business actors, central and regional governments, research institutions, CSOs/NGOs, and no less important are local communities and indigenous peoples.

- 2) Community sustainable economic development program in the Lake Bian Wildlife Reserve area, Merauke Regency, Papua Province. This activity was carried out in partnership with PT Bio Inti Agrindo (BIA) and the Santo Antonius Foundation (Yasanto) as one of the proponents of implementing the RaCP. The activity lasts for 6 months in 2022.
- 3) Facilitate the preparation of the Remediation and Compensation Plan for PT Parna Agromas in 2022 within 11 months.
- 4) PILI also participates in the RSPO RT2022 booth at Shangri-La Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, from late November to early December 2022.
